

Give Me a Chance – a Live Concert

Thursday 2nd May, 6.00 pm

Emmanuel Centre, 9-23 Marsham Street, Westminster, London SW1P 3DW

Core Issues Trust and Icontowers proudly present .....

X Factor Malta contestant Matthew Grech and friends (Royal Seed Music) live in concert on Monday 2nd May 2019, supported by renowned Nigerian artists Mike Aremu (saxophonist), Purist Ogboi (vocalist) and the UK's Faith-Child (rapper).

The concert calls attention to the sustained genocide in Northern Nigeria against undefended Christian believers at the hands of terrorists. The event also brings together three streams: the 9 million aborted children (since 1967) who never got to play in the sunshine, those denied the right to professional and pastoral help to be who they are, and the genocide in northern Nigeria of Christian believers. The music is rich with an international resonance and mastery by celebrated musicians.

Also making appearances on May 2nd will be Angel Colon and Luis Javier Ruiz, survivors of the Pulse massacre, a gay nightclub at which 49 people were killed by a lone shooter in Orlando, Florida in 2016. Luis was trampled and Angel shot six times. Because of the incident, both found their way back to Christ and to changed lives, and are now developing an advocacy group, "Fearless Identity" in the USA.

The highlight of the evening will be the appeal made and offering taken to support the victims of terrorism in Northern Nigeria. Marking the occasion, we have pleasure in promoting the conference song 'Give me a chance' (Royal Seed Music) to be released in honour of the event.
